

My report on Three-Day Internet Governance Training Event

I am Bilal Satti, currently serving as an Assistant Professor of History at Graduate College Asghar Mall, Rawalpindi. I would like to express my gratitude to Dr. Shabbir and the Internet Society for orchestrating the enlightening three-day event in Islamabad and giving me the opportunity to participate.

The training proved to be an invaluable experience, offering learning regarding Internet Governance and various crucial aspects of the cyber world. The distinguished speakers delivered exceptionally knowledgeable lectures, shedding light on contemporary technology trends. Topics such as ICANN and its system, data privacy, and website accessibility guidelines were covered comprehensively, enhancing our understanding of these crucial subjects.

The program facilitated interactive discussions, providing a platform to explore diverse perspectives and gain new insights. A notable highlight was the informative session on applying for the Internet Society's fellowship program, providing participants with a valuable opportunity for further engagement.

The participation of the Pakistan Telecommunication Authority (PTA) added a commendable dimension to the training. Discussions involving PTA addressed pertinent matters, and individuals with visual impairments were able to articulate their online accessibility concerns, fostering a more inclusive discourse.

In summary, the three-day event proved to be immensely beneficial. I am eager to share the knowledge gained with my visually impaired colleagues, and I am hopeful for the opportunity to participate in future programs of similar nature. I extend my sincere appreciation to the organizers for creating a conducive learning environment and imparting advanced knowledge throughout the program.

Thank you once again.

Best regards,

Bilal Satti Assistant Professor of History Graduate College Asghar Mall, Rawalpindi
